Our historic properties tell the stories of our communities. They say who we are, where we have been, what we hope to be. At Missouri Preservation, we work to protect these historic resources and the stories they tell.

SINCE 1976, MISSOURI PRESERVATION has been the only statewide non-profit organization dedicated to protecting the beauty, character, and history of Missouri's architecture, streetscapes, neighborhoods and landscapes in both our rural and urban areas.

What We Do:

Missouri Preservation advocates for, educates about, and assists in the preservation of architectural and historic landmarks that embody Missouri's unique heritage and sense of place.

How You

Can Help

We Educate

Coordinate the annual Missouri Statewide Preservation Conference, with technical workshops and trade show exhibits, that provides networking opportunities among conference participants and experts.

Sponsor a variety of educational workshops in various communities throughout the state.

We Advocate

Inform the public of the cultural and economic value of protecting our irreplaceable resources that encourage heritage tourism and generate economic development.

Promote awareness of our threatened historic resources through an annual list of Missouri's Most Endangered Historic Places.

Honor individuals and organizations across the state that have contributed to the preservation of Missouri's historic resources at an annual ceremony at the State Capitol.

We Assist

Keep you "in the know" with the preservation community through the Missouri Preservation newsletter, email updates, and our web site highlighting preservation efforts and issues throughout the state.

Provide technical assistance, suggest funding options, and offer restoration strategies for property owners and entire communities.

Preserving Missouri's history takes time, dedication, and significant resources. Your support is essential to our success. Please consider:

- Becoming a member of Missouri Preservation
